

Date: 7 March 2021
Speaker: Rev Clement Chew
Topic: Studies in Exodus: Infectious Unbelief
Scripture text: Exodus 6:9-30

1. While the world is fearful of being infected by COVID-19, Christians must beware of the disease of unbelief. Unbelief can spread and affect one another.
2. The LORD encouraged Moses to convey the message to the children of Israel that He will soon deliver them from the cruel bondage of Egypt. However, they did not listen because they could not endure the suffering and submit to God's timing. They sinned against God by being impatient in spirit and doubting God's sovereignty. Let us guard our hearts with all diligence and pray that external circumstances will not cause sparks of unbelief within us.
3. The spread of unbelief affected Moses and he became discouraged. He repeated the same excuses of his lack of eloquence that he previously gave to the LORD. The genealogy proved that the LORD had been preparing the deliverance of the children Israel out of Egypt into the Promised Land. The LORD is in control and His plans for us are the best. Let us strive to live a life of faith that mutually encourages others.